AND HESITANCY

REFLECTED IN RELATIVE DULLNESS IN THE STOCK MARKET.

Notable Slump in Colorado Fuel, the Shares Declining 17 Points-Other Movements-Monetary Situation.

NEW YORK, June 19 .- The decreased activity in to-day's stock market reflected doubt and hesitation in the speculative mind. The many and various fluctuations seemed to represent as much as anything cover the actual condition of the market by a testing process. There was undoubtedly a considerable amount of speculative liquidation, but the professional bears also had their share in the weakness of the market, as was quite conclusively shown by the substantial rally late in the day when they began to look for stocks to cover their short contracts and found a limited supply. The late rally was achieved, however, on a light volume of dealings, the bidding up process by the professional bulls against the efforts of the bears to cover having its share in the movement. The large proportion of the trading was congested in a few stocks which showed the widest fluctuations. St. Paul was most conspicuous in this class, and the appre-hension that much of the recent rumors regarding developments in that stock was purely conjectural had much to do not only with its movement but with the generally unsettled tone of the trading. There was seemingly good authority cited to-day for assertions that it was not contemplated at all to effect any actual absorption or legal passing of control of St. Paul or any interchange of the stock for new bonds. The absorption of a part of St. Paul by other rival railroad interests may go far towards conserving the safety of the general railroad situation, but a question arises as to the increase that would result in the investment value of St. Paul stock itself. The extreme decline in the afternoon reached 2% below last night. Union Pacific moved in sympathy. The exports of gold announced to-day reached only $1,250,000, leaving the week's shipments be-Offices: Indiana Trust Building low $5,000,000. It is not probable that ship-Berlin before July 1, so that a further outgo is not looked for. The recognition of this rally of the stock market. The week's considerable depletion of the cash reserves of the banks and the expected requirements next week to prepare for the unprecedented lisbursement on July 1 make it probable that the money market will continue firm during the rest of the month. Any large demands for speculative purposes would endanger the comfort of the money market. This was a potent factor in discouraging speculative activity. A violent slump in Colorado Fuel of 17 points and a sym-pathetic reaction in Tennessee Coal to 41/4 under last night were due to doubts cast > of industrials, including American Tobacco. The bond market was quite active and irregular. Total sales at par value were changed on the last call.

Spring lambs$4.50@5.50 Good to choice yearlings 3.50@4.00 Horses-The receipts of horses continue fairly liberal for this time in the year, about 225 having arrived for the regular sale of the Blair-Baker Horse Company today, against 250 the same time last week and 150 the corresponding time a year ago. The arrivals were principally harness horses and included quite a number of good erage last week. The attendance of buyers was all that could have been exepected, and while for some grades the demand was hardly as aggressive as in the initial with the way equal kinds sold last week. On account of the offerings being more suitable, exporters were more liberal buycurrent at other points, and the season thus far has been rather more satisfactory to salesmen and owners than anticipated. ginning to talk of dullness, but with them, sale of the week, transactions were, for the most part, at steady prices compared in the early part of June, trade was better than last year. There is more activity in the leather market, with a tendency to market, that purchases on the part of rescale. Now, it is thought, the better prices will improve trade. Not in many years has the hide market been so dull and prices so weak as for twelve months past, but the next few months. The provision market is active. Domestic demand is very satisfactory. The flour market presents un-usual conditions, some days showing a better tone than others. While no important changes have been made in the schedpounds, $150; sorrel horse, 6 years, worker, $82.50; brown horse, 7 years, worker, $95.

Andy Schicketanz, of this city, sold coach horses as high as $210; John E. Vestal, of is to be. Flour locally is being handled at Plainfield, sold a mixed load as high as about the same figures as for some weeks past. Wholesale grocers are quite busy. The coffee market is rather quiet and Rooker, of Zionsville, received as high as prices weak, it being reported that there is an immense quantity of coffee on the market, but prices are already so low that the dealers do not look for further decline. Raw sugars are a trifle firmer. The retail trade shows a marked increase since the first of the month. Navy beans are strong and active. In tropical fruit there is a good movement. Oranges and lemons are firm at quotations, with the demand for lemons increasing. Evaporated fruits and canned goods are moving slowly. Irish potatoes, both old and new, are weak at quotations. Tomatoes of Southern growth, on heavy receipts, are weaker in price. Green stuff is selling freely, largely of home production, with prices ranging as for some days past. The produce market is fairly active. Eggs rule easy at a decline of 1/2 cent on Tuesday. Butter, if choice, brings best quotations readily. Poor stock sells slowly. Poultry shows no change. Spring chickens are in active request, but at present prices and size are in the luxury list. Fat, healthy hens are in good request. The fron and hardware market continues very active at current prices, which have taken on a steadler tone. Never in the history of Indianapolis hardware merchants have they done as large a business as the last three months. The local grain market, while showing more activity than last month, is disappointing to the handlers of grain, as they had looked for an active business should present prices for wheat and corn continue. The impression prevails that farmers are holding their corn until the corn crop of the coming fall can be better estimated. Many are feeding corn to hogs, as hog prices are high and it is much less trouble to realize money on them than in marketing quality of the supply was fair, the bulk consisting of light mixed kinds. The market opened strong and active and the day's business was transacted on the basis of an advance of 212c Wheat—No. 2 red, 68c, track; No. 2 red, 68c, corn.
